Johanna Garteiser Dead.

Miss Johanna K. Garteiser, born at D'Hanis Nov. 25, 1902 and died in Hondo at 9:30 o'clock, p. m., August 17, 1916. She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Garteiser, and two brothers and a little sister survive her.

Grief, softened by the consciousness that heaven held no more angelic soul than hers, came to all who knew little Miss Johanna, when she passed away.

The sorrowing parents, who had seen her bloom into childhood and on to charming girlhood with love in their hearts and wonder in their eyes at the marvel of it, have as companions in grief, a host of relatives and friends to whom she had been a constant delight and an object of endearments such as only such a child could engender in the hearts of those around her.

She had suffered only a few weeks with that dreadful malady—Brights disease, which caused her intense pain and acute suffering, especially during the last hours of her life. It racked the little body, and yet she never complained. She bore it with a courage and patience so remarkable as to command the wonder of all.

The remains of the little girl were tenderly laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery at D'Hanis yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Her loving little playmates and schoolmates showed their loving regards by acting as pall bearers.

To her parents, relatives and the many friends that loved her there remains the soft fragrance of memory. In their hearts she will live while life endures, as she lives in truth in a better land, where she will greet them when it ends.

"Suffer little children to come unto me."

The sorrowing, grief-stricken parents, loving little sister and brothers, mourning relatives and friends have the sympathy of all who know them in their great loss, and the Anvil Herald joins in extending sincere, heart-felt condolence.

Fowlerton Farmers Meet.

Fowlerton, Tex., Aug. 17.—Fletcher Davis, field agent of the State Department of Agriculture, spoke for about an hour at a meeting of the Fowlerton Farmers' Institute Monday evening. He dwelt upon the plans and purposes of the farmers' institute and urged organization and co-operation of the farmers in increasing production and securing better markets for farm produce. He emphasized the fact that the best help a man can receive is self-help and said the State Department of Agriculture is promoting farmers' institutes because they are useful means whereby farmers can help themselves.

After his lecture, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: W. T. Sponseller, president; W. H. Newberry, vice-president; H. C. Holmes, secretary, and E. W. Tiedeman, entomologist. The Fowlerton institute has a large membership.—San Antonio Express.

YENANG YOUNG, UPPER BURMA, INDIA, June 23, 1916.

Dear Mother and Sister:

Well, I will write again to let you know I am well and doing fine, and hope you all the same.

I like here just fine. Tell the boys there is plenty and all kinds of game here, but I haven't been hunting yet, but will go soon, I think. This country is very rough and the mountains so high that you can scarcely see the tops of them. I believe it is as healthy here as anywhere, and is not so hot as you may think, for we have a good breeze all the time.

I have an excellent job—well, really it isn't a job, for I don't have a "liek" of work as I am foreman. I get $10 per day and expenses, and am paid in gold.

Now I will tell you something about my trip. I left Shreveport, Louisiana, on the 18th of April, landed in Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 21st, and arrived in New York on the 22nd, and at noon of the same day boarded a steamer for Liverpool, England, where I remained twelve days, and then took a ship for Rangoon, India. Here I remained but two days, when I took a boat for this place and landed on Sunday, 19th of June. My ticket from Louisiana to this place cost $300.65—rather cheap, I think; but I suppose that you know water rates are cheaper than rail.

Have you all ever received any of my letters? I haven't heard a word from any of you since I left, but it takes a long time to get a letter. Now you want get this before July 25th, and by the time you answer I won't hear from you until some time in August. I try to keep a letter on the road all the time. I write once a week, but the letters will be a month old when they reach you.

I will close, hoping to hear from you soon. When you write don't mention the war; if you do I won't get your letter.

Write soon to

To Our Subscribers.

A prompt settlement of your subscription account will save us the labor and expense of sending a statement and will be greatly appreciated. Please don't overlook or post-pone this but call at once at the office or mail the amount you are due on subscription, and greatly oblige, Notice, Election Officers.

Chairman H. E. Haass is sending out supplies for next Saturday's primary, accompanied by the following letter:

"Herewith supplies and ballots for run off primary, August 26, 1916. See that same are at polls early on day of election.

"As soon as possible after votes are counted Saturday evening phone me, collect, result of election for each candidate.

"If no election is held phone me that fact, collect.

"Send returns at least by Monday by mail or otherwise, and try and meet with Executive Committee on Saturday, Sept. 2, 1916, at Hondo, to canvass returns and declare results.

H. E. HAASS,
Chairman County Democratic Executive Committee."

Judge Haass is in receipt of a letter from the bureau that collected the returns of the July primary for the daily press, congratulating him on the expeditious manner in which the returns from this county were handled. The interest in the July primary, in comparison with the result of next Saturday's contest, was a rather tame affair. The result of the former primary was a foregone conclusion, the only interest being in the size of the majority. Not so in next Saturday's primary. Interest in the contest is running high and for that reason Judge Haass is very desirous of getting as full a report as possible Saturday night, and as he agrees to pay whatever expense is necessary, it is hoped that election officials will co-operate with him to that end. Remember, other parts of the county are as anxious to know the results at your polling place as you are of theirs.

Help The Soldier Boys.

Dr. J. H. Pluck is getting up a box of books, magazines, etc. to send to the soldier boys on guard duty on the border, and those having literature that they can donate for this purpose are requested to bring the same to this office or deliver it to Dr. Pluck.

Several have responded to the call with good, wholesome literature. Won't you bring in yours at once?

TARDY BUT TRUE

By ELSIE SEE.

It was well known in Plainville that Madge Ingram, who five years ago had refused to wed Jim Butler, the merchant prince of the town, was now getting a good salary as private secretary to a city lawyer. It was equally well known that the merchant's young wife of a year kept a servant and an automobile and had charge accounts at the city department stores. Every time Madge came home for a vacation, Plainville weighed the respective merits of her independence and the merchant's wife's affluence, but the shrewdest of the gossips did not suspect that a memory antedating her affair with Jim Butler meant more to Madge than anything that had come into her life.

One summer morning Madge alighted from the six o'clock train for her vacation without having told of her coming, as she preferred to surprise her parents by appearing unannounced for breakfast.

"What's doing today, mother? Is there a picnic?" asked Madge, after breakfast.

"Now, how did you guess that?"

"I saw Tom Jordan hauling some giant ice cream freezers and a lot of fruit up to the Maplewood pasture and, oh I saw a distinguished-looking man in gray tweed over near the hotel. He looked like a man of affairs above and beyond Plainville picnics."

"That must have been Tom Whitlow. He's here for a visit, and he dresses like that and is staying at the hotel."

"Tom Whitlow, who used to—"

"Used to drive Butler's delivery wagon. But they say he's made something of himself. He is manager of some mines out West somewhere."

That afternoon Madge went with her parents to the picnic, and, although she felt a certain pleasure in greeting her old friends, she soon began to feel keenly that she was no longer in sympathy with their lives or they with hers.

As she walked around a thick clump of hazelnut bushes and sumacs a tall man in blue serge, who had been sitting on the grass with his broad shoulders against a tree, rose and removed his hat in respectful, but embarrassed greeting.

"I hope I haven't startled you," he said, "and may I hope, also, that you would care to remember Tom Whitlow?"

"Not at all," blurted Madge. Then, in embarrassment, she hastened to add: "That is, you didn't startle me, and I'm glad to meet you again. But are you sure you know who I am?"

"You? Why, you're Madge Ingram. Pardon me—Miss Ingram."

"No—let's be Madge and Tom before we begin to be formal," said she, extending her hand. "You used to help me with my lessons, but you wouldn't talk to me. Won't you make up for lost time now by telling me of the interesting things you've been doing?"

"May I not tell you what I wanted to tell you years ago, but hadn't the courage?" His gray eyes were eager and his strong hand still held hers. "May I not tell you that it was you who first aroused in me a desire to do things? Some of the girls at school made mouths because they had to stand beside me in class, but you never did. Those girls, later, looked over my head when they saw me driving a delivery wagon, but you spoke to me even then. And may I tell you that I went away determined to achieve something that would make me worthy of even more than your friendly greetings? I worked away for a year, and then I heard you were going to marry Jim Butler."

He turned away and dropped her hand.

"I never opened another issue of the little old Plainville paper for fear I'd find the account of your wedding. I worked my way through the state university and into mining engineering. For years my work has absorbed me, and I've known nothing of what went on at Plainville, but last week in a railroad restaurant out West I happened to hear news of you. I overheard one woman tourist speaking to another as they sat at dinner. 'I begged Madge Ingram to make this trip with me,' she said, 'but she thought she must go to Plainville, and told her she'd as well have married that merchant after all, but she says there's a lot of difference between going for a vacation and a lifetime.'"

"That must have been Elsie Warren," exclaimed Madge, "and what a coincidence that you should have heard her say that just as you were starting to Plainville!"

"But I wasn't starting until I heard that! It was knowing you were free that brought me here! It is because I've loved you ever since we were children that I've tried to make myself worthy of you. It's because I love you now that I'm telling you all this in such a blundering way, and it's because I'll always love you that I'm daring to ask you to go away with me to the West. Madge, could you marry a man who once drove a delivery wagon, and who loves you so much that he is making a sorry mess of telling you?"

She smiled into his face. "You might have asked me that question any time in the past five years, Tom, and I shouldn't have had the courage to refuse," she said.

It's Surprising.

That So Many Hondo People Fail To Recognize Kidney Weakness.

Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges; headaches, dizzy spells?

Go to bed tired—get up tired?

It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys.

It's surprising how few know what to do.

Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only.

Have convinced Hondo people of their merit.

Here's a Hondo case; Hondo testimony.

Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

Mrs. C. H. Sayers, Hondo, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a lot of good and I have no hesitation in recommending them to others who suffer as I did. They gave me great relief and I can safely say that they are the best kidney medicine that I have ever used."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sayers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HIS REVENGE.

"Yes, she quarreled with Tom and returned all his presents!"

"And he hers?"

"Every one of them. Why, he even went so far as to send her half a dozen boxes of face powder with a note explaining that since he first met her he must have taken that much home on his coat."

Keeping Up Appearances.

"How about some hair tonic?" suggested the barber.

"What for?" inquired Mr. Growcher.

"So as to preserve your hair, of course."

"Let it fall out. I'm too old to be handsome, and my only hope of looking intellectual is to become bald-headed."

Not to Be Trusted.

Grandmother—Did you get a letter from your husband this morning?

Young Wife—No; I expected one, but the carrier tells me the mails have been very irregular this week.

Grandmother—This week fiddlesticks! They always have been that way, you can't trust one of 'em out of your sight.

A Sure Way.

The meeting of the suffragette club was on in deadly earnest.

"How can we keep man at a distance?" howled the woman in sawed-off skirt.

"By eating onions," replied the female in the plaid waist.

Worse Still.

"Is there anything more pathetic than the low-browed husband of a high-browed wife?"

"Oh, yes," answered the advocate of culture.

"I can't imagine what it is."

"A husband and wife who are both low browed."

You Never Can Tell.

"What business do you think your son will adopt?"

"Can't say, but judging by the hours Josiah keeps, I shall say he was naturally content to be a milkman."

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping it's a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in White's Cream Vermifuge. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

It's funny that the bar associations haven't attracted suspicion in the dry states.

SALADS IN SUMMER

APPETIZING DISHES FOR THE
HOT WEATHER.

Apples, Celery, and Walnuts Mixed
Well Together Make One of the Best—Watercress Is Excellent
—With Oranges and Grapes.

Apple, Celery and Walnut Salad.—Cut into cubes two apples, pared, and one apple with the red skin left on, a few stalks of celery and a cupful of walnut meats. Stir in a bowl with some salad dressing. Pile a spoonful of this on a lettuce leaf, with a dot of the dressing on top. Use the rest of the lettuce head for lettuce sandwiches at supper time.

Watercress Salad.—Make an ordinary potato salad, chopped potatoes, with a little raw onion. Arrange in oval mound on platter. Divide into quarters with knives, leaving the knives in the salad. Cover two opposite corners with chopped beets. Of the remaining two corners cover one with sifted yolk of hard-boiled egg and the other with the white, chopped. Marinate with French dressing and set away to chill. Just before serving remove knives and in the cross left put sprays of parsley. Also surround salad with parsley. This salad is very attractive.

Pecan and Potato Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of diced cooked potatoes with one cupful of broken pecan meats, sprinkle with salt, marinate with French dressing, turn into a salad bowl rubbed lightly with garlic, surround with watercress and garnish with halves of pecan nut meats.

Veal and Cabbage Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of cold cooked veal cut into dice with one cupful of finely chopped cabbage, moisten with salad dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Orange and Grape Salad.—Pare two seedless oranges, cutting deep enough to remove all the white, and cut the pulp into small pieces. Add an equal quantity of malaga grapes from which the seeds have been removed and one tablespoonful of canned pimiento cut into tiny strips; moisten with French dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Turnip and Onion Salad.—Peel one large white and one yellow turnip, boil in salted water until tender, drain, cool and cut into dice. Peel and slice a medium-sized Bermuda onion in thin slices. Arrange the turnips and onions in alternate layers in the form of a pyramid, surround with slices of hard-boiled eggs and pickled beets cut in fancy shapes and serve with French or boiled dressing.

Fried Frogs' Legs.

Place two dozen frogs' legs in an earthen dish containing a marmalade composed of two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, the juice of a small lemon, one small onion sliced, a branch of parsley, two bay leaves, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika. Drain, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, dip in milk and roll in flour. Fry in smoking hot oil until colored a light brown. Garnish with parsley and serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—Put the juice of a large lemon in a double boiler with one-half cupful of butter, a dash each of salt and pepper and beat until it becomes thick and hot, but do not allow it to boil. Stir in the beaten yolks of two eggs and remove from the fire. Serve hot.

Baked Stuffed Onions.

Pare the onions and boil until tender, changing the water four times during the cooking. Scoop out the centers and chop them finely. Mix together equal parts of chopped ham and soft bread crumbs, add the chopped onions, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and season with pepper and a little salt. Fill the onions with the mixture, arrange them in a baking pan, baste with water and melted butter and bake until brown.

Hash With Eggs.

This is delicious: One cupful of boiled ham, chopped fine; one cupful of potato, mashed or chopped; one cupful of cracker or bread crumbs; season well, mix all together with water, put in a deep plate, smooth it over and then make little dents in the top large enough to hold an egg. Put it in the oven and heat it through, then remove and drop an egg in each of the places and return it to the oven till the eggs are cooked.

Beef Cutlets.

Put the beef through the chopper (as for hamburger steak), season with sage and pepper, moisten with cream, then mold in cutlet form and boil. Serve with a brown sauce made by browning a slice of onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter, adding a little salt, pepper and two tablespoonfuls of stock. Boil until smooth, then add a hard-boiled egg, chopped in small pieces.

West Indian Salad.

Take two medium-sized cucumbers, remove any seeds, four or five young onions, the outside of one large green pepper (no seeds) and put all in chopping bowl. Chop (not too finely), season with salt, pepper and vinegar. Serve icy cold with fish or cold meat.

Dressed Sardines.

Remove the skins from the sardines, place on a buttered plate, season with Worcestershire sauce, mustard and cayenne. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake till brown. Serve very hot.

Made My Life

Worth Living

"I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me," writes Mrs. L. Dunlap, of Oak Grove, Mich. "I have suffered with pains in
my back and under
my shoulder blade for
a number of years,
also with a poor appetite and constipation.
I tried all of the remedies that I heard of,
and a number of doctors, but got no relief.
Finally a friend told
me to try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I took a bottle and am an-
they soon cured my stomach, and their gentle action on my bowels became more regular. Today I feel praising them to all

they have cured me and made my life

TARDY BUT TRUE

By ELSIE SEE.

It was well known in Plainville that Madge Ingram, who five years ago had refused to wed Jim Butler, the merchant prince of the town, was now getting a good salary as private secretary to a city lawyer. It was equally well known that the merchant's young wife of a year kept a servant and an automobile and had charge accounts at the city department stores. Every time Madge came home for a vacation, Plainville weighed the respective merits of her independence and the merchant's wife's affluence, but the shrewdest of the gossips did not suspect that a memory antedating her affair with Jim Butler meant more to Madge than anything that had come into her life.

One summer morning Madge alighted from the six o'clock train for her vacation without having told of her coming, as she preferred to surprise her parents by appearing unannounced for breakfast.

"What's doing today, mother? Is there a picnic?" asked Madge, after breakfast.

"Now, how did you guess that?"

"I saw Tom Jordan hauling some giant ice cream freezers and a lot of fruit up to the Maplewood pasture and, oh I saw a distinguished-looking man in gray tweed over near the hotel. He looked like a man of affairs above and beyond Plainville picnics."

"That must have been Tom Whitlow. He's here for a visit, and he dresses like that and is staying at the hotel."

"Used to drive Butler's delivery wagon. But they say he's made something of himself. He is manager of some mines out West somewhere."

That afternoon Madge went with her parents to the picnic, and, although she felt a certain pleasure in greeting her old friends, she soon began to feel keenly that she was no longer in sympathy with their lives or they with hers.

As she walked around a thick clump of hazelnut bushes and sumacs a tall man in blue serge, who had been sitting on the grass with his broad shoulders against a tree, rose and removed his hat in respectful, but embarrassed greeting.

"I hope I haven't startled you," he said, "and may I hope, also, that you would care to remember Tom Whitlow?"

"Not at all," blurted Madge. Then, in embarrassment, she hastened to add: "That is, you didn't startle me, and I'm glad to meet you again. But are you sure you know who I am?"

"You? Why, you're Madge Ingram. Pardon me—Miss Ingram."

"No—let's be Madge and Tom before we begin to be formal," said she, extending her hand. "You used to help me with my lessons, but you wouldn't talk to me. Won't you make up for lost time now by telling me of the interesting things you've been doing?"

"May I not tell you what I wanted to tell you years ago, but hadn't the courage?" His gray eyes were eager and his strong hand still held hers. "May I not tell you that it was you who first aroused in me a desire to do things? Some of the girls at school made mouths because they had to stand beside me in class, but you never did. Those girls, later, looked over my head when they saw me driving a delivery wagon, but you spoke to me even then. And may I tell you that I went away determined to achieve something that would make me worthy of even more than your friendly greetings? I worked away for a year, and then I heard you were going to marry Jim Butler."

He turned away and dropped her hand.

"I never opened another issue of the little old Plainville paper for fear I'd find the account of your wedding. I worked my way through the state university and into mining engineering. For years my work has absorbed me, and I've known nothing of what went on at Plainville, but last week in a railroad restaurant out West I happened to hear news of you. I overheard one woman tourist speaking to another as they sat at dinner. 'I begged Madge Ingram to make this trip with me,' she said, 'but she thought she must go to Plainville, and told her she'd as well have married that merchant after all, but she says there's a lot of difference between going for a vacation and a lifetime.'"

"That must have been Elsie Warren," exclaimed Madge, "and what a coincidence that you should have heard her say that just as you were starting to Plainville!"

"But I wasn't starting until I heard that! It was knowing you were free that brought me here! It is because I've loved you ever since we were children that I've tried to make myself worthy of you. It's because I love you now that I'm telling you all this in such a blundering way, and it's because I'll always love you that I'm daring to ask you to go away with me to the West. Madge, could you marry a man who once drove a delivery wagon, and who loves you so much that he is making a sorry mess of telling you?"

She smiled into his face. "You might have asked me that question any time in the past five years, Tom, and I shouldn't have had the courage to refuse," she said.

It's Surprising.

That So Many Hondo People Fail To Recognize Kidney Weakness. Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges; headaches, dizzy spells? Go to bed tired—get up tired? It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys.

It's surprising how few know what to do.

Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only.

Have convinced Hondo people of their merit.

Here's a Hondo case; Hondo testimony.

Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

Mrs. C. H. Sayers, Hondo, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a lot of good and I have no hesitation in recommending them to others who suffer as I did. They gave me great relief and I can safely say that they are the best kidney medicine that I have ever used."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sayers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HIS REVENGE.

"Yes, she quarreled with Tom and returned all his presents."

"And he hers?"

"Every one of them. Why, he even went so far as to send her half a dozen boxes of face powder with a note explaining that since he first met her he must have taken that much home on his coat."

Keeping Up Appearances.

"How about some hair tonic?" suggested the barber.

"What for?" inquired Mr. Growcher. "So as to preserve your hair, of course."

"Let it fall out. I'm too old to be handsome, and my only hope of looking intellectual is to become bald-headed."

Not to Be Trusted.

Grandmother—Did you get a letter from your husband this morning?

Young Wife—No; I expected one, but the carrier tells me the mails have been very irregular this week.

Grandmother—This week fiddlesticks! They always have been that way; you can't trust one of 'em out of your sight.

A Sure Way.

The meeting of the suffragette club was on in deadly earnest.

"How can we keep man at a distance?" howled the woman in sawed-off skirt.

"By eating onions," replied the female in the plaid waist.

Worse Still.

"Is there anything more pathetic than the low-browed husband of a high-browed wife?"

"Oh, yes," answered the advocate of culture.

"I can't imagine what it is."

"A husband and wife who are both low-browed."

You Never Can Tell.

"Can't say, but judging by the hours Josiah keeps, I shall say he was naturally content to be a milkman."

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping its a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in White's Cream Vermifuge. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

It's funny that the bar associations haven't attracted suspicion in the dry states.

If you sit in a cool draft when heated and get a stiff neck or lame back, you will be looking for something that will ease the pain. Fix your mind on Ballard's Snow Liniment and don't be talked out of it, because it is the best pain relieving liniment you can get anywhere. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

It seems to be war at any price just now.

SALADS IN SUMMER

APPETIZING DISHES FOR THE
HOT WEATHER.

Apples, Celery, and Walnuts Mixed
Well Together Make One of the Best—Watercress Is Excellent
—With Oranges and Grapes.

Apple, Celery and Walnut Salad.—Cut into cubes two apples, pared, and one apple with the red skin left on, a few stalks of celery and a cupful of walnut meats. Stir in a bowl with some salad dressing. Pile a spoonful of this on a lettuce leaf, with a dot of the dressing on top. Use the rest of the lettuce head for lettuce sandwiches at supper time.

Watercress Salad.—Make an ordinary potato salad, chopped potatoes, with a little raw onion. Arrange in oval mound on platter. Divide into quarters with knives, leaving the knives in the salad. Cover two opposite corners with chopped beets. Of the remaining two corners cover one with sifted yolk of hard-boiled egg and the other with the white, chopped. Marinate with French dressing and set away to chill. Just before serving remove knives and in the cross left put sprays of parsley. Also surround salad with parsley. This salad is very attractive.

Pecan and Potato Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of diced cooked potatoes with one cupful of broken pecan meats, sprinkle with salt, marinate with French dressing, turn into a salad bowl rubbed lightly with garlic, surround with watercress and garnish with halves of pecan nut meats.

Veal and Cabbage Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of cold cooked veal cut into dice with one cupful of finely chopped cabbage, moisten with salad dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Orange and Grape Salad.—Pare two seedless oranges, cutting deep enough to remove all the white, and cut the pulp into small pieces. Add an equal quantity of malaga grapes from which the seeds have been removed and one tablespoonful of canned pimente cut into tiny strips; moisten with French dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Turnip and Onion Salad.—Peel one large white and one yellow turnip, boil in salted water until tender, drain, cool and cut into dice. Peel and cut a medium-sized Bermuda onion in thin slices. Arrange the turnips and onions in alternate layers in the form of a pyramid, surround with slices of hard-boiled eggs and pickled beets cut in fancy shapes and serve with French or boiled dressing.

Fried Frogs' Legs.

Place two dozen frogs' legs in an earthen dish containing a marmalade composed of two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, the juice of a small lemon, one small onion sliced, a branch of parsley, two bay leaves, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika. Drain, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, dip in milk and roll in flour. Fry in smoking hot oil until colored a light brown. Garnish with parsley and serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—Put the juice of a large lemon in a double boiler with one-half cupful of butter, a dash each of salt and pepper and beat until it becomes thick and hot, but do not allow it to boil. Stir in the beaten yolks of two eggs and remove from the fire. Serve hot.

Baked Stuffed Onions.

Pare the onions and boil until tender, changing the water four times during the cooking. Scoop out the centers and chop them finely. Mix together equal parts of chopped ham and soft bread crumbs, add the chopped onions, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and season with pepper and a little salt. Fill the onions with the mixture, arrange them in a baking pan, baste with water and melted butter and bake until brown.

Hash With Eggs.

This is delicious: One cupful of boiled ham, chopped fine; one cupful of potato, mashed or chopped; one cupful of cracker or bread crumbs; season well, mix all together with water, put in a deep plate, smooth it over and then make little dents in the top large enough to hold an egg. Put it in the oven and heat it through, then remove and drop an egg in each of the places and return it to the oven till the eggs are cooked.

Beef Cutlets.

Put the beef through the chopper (as for hamburger steak), season with sage and pepper, moisten with cream, then mold in cutlet form and boil. Serve with a brown sauce made by browning a slice of onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter, adding a little salt, pepper and two tablespoonfuls of stock. Boil until smooth, then add a hard-boiled egg, chopped in small pieces.

West Indian Salad.

Take two medium-sized cucumbers, remove any seeds, four or five young onions, the outside of one large green pepper (no seeds) and put all in chopping bowl. Chop (not too finely), season with salt, pepper and vinegar. Serve icy cold with fish or cold meat.

Deviled Sardines.

Remove the skins from the sardines, place on a buttered plate, season with Worcestershire sauce, mustard and cayenne. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake till brown. Serve very hot.

Made My Life Worth Living

"I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me," writes Mrs. L. Dunlap, of Oak Grove, Mich. "I have suffered with pains in my back and under my shoulder blade for a number of years, also with a poor appetite and constipation. I tried all of the remedies that I heard of, and a number of doctors, but got no relief. Finally a friend told me to try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I got a bottle and when they soon opened my stomach, my bowels became more regular. Today I feel like praising them to all who suffer as I did, for they have cured me and made my life worth living."

TARDY BUT TRUE

By ELSIE SEE.

It was well known in Plainville that Madge Ingram, who five years ago had refused to wed Jim Butler, the merchant prince of the town, was now getting a good salary as private secretary to a city lawyer. It was equally well known that the merchant's young wife of a year kept a servant and an automobile and had charge accounts at the city department stores. Every time Madge came home for a vacation, Plainville weighed the respective merits of her independence and the merchant's wife's affluence, but the shrewdest of the gossips did not suspect that a memory antedating her affair with Jim Butler meant more to Madge than anything that had come into her life.

One summer morning Madge alighted from the six o'clock train for her vacation without having told of her coming, as she preferred to surprise her parents by appearing unannounced for breakfast.

"What's doing today, mother? Is there a picnic?" asked Madge, after breakfast.

"Now, how did you guess that?"

"I saw Tom Jordan hauling some giant ice cream freezers and a lot of fruit up to the Maplewood pasture and, oh I saw a distinguished-looking man in gray tweed over near the hotel. He looked like a man of affairs above and beyond Plainville picnics."

"That must have been Tom Whitlow. He's here for a visit, and he dresses like that and is staying at the hotel."

"Tom Whitlow, who used to—"

"Used to drive Butler's delivery wagon. But they say he's made something of himself. He is manager of some mines out West somewhere."

That afternoon Madge went with her parents to the picnic, and, although she felt a certain pleasure in greeting her old friends, she soon began to feel keenly that she was no longer in sympathy with their lives or they with hers.

As she walked around a thick clump of hazelnut bushes and sumacs a tall man in blue serge, who had been sitting on the grass with his broad shoulders against a tree, rose and removed his hat in respectful, but embarrassed greeting.

"I hope I haven't startled you," he said, "and may I hope, also, that you would care to remember Tom Whitlow?"

"Not at all," blurted Madge. Then, in embarrassment, she hastened to add: "That is, you didn't startle me, and I'm glad to meet you again. But are you sure you know who I am?"

"You? Why, you're Madge Ingram. Pardon me—Miss Ingram."

"No—let's be Madge and Tom before we begin to be formal," said she, extending her hand. "You used to help me with my lessons, but you wouldn't talk to me. Won't you make up for lost time now by telling me of the interesting things you've been doing?"

"May I not tell you what I wanted to tell you years ago, but hadn't the courage?" His gray eyes were eager and his strong hand still held hers. "May I not tell you that it was you who first aroused in me a desire to do things? Some of the girls at school made mouths because they had to stand beside me in class, but you never did. Those girls, later, looked over my head when they saw me driving a delivery wagon, but you spoke to me even then. And may I tell you that I went away determined to achieve something that would make me worthy of even more than your friendly greetings? I worked away for a year, and then I heard you were going to marry Jim Butler."

He turned away and dropped her hand.

"I never opened another issue of the little old Plainville paper for fear I'd find the account of your wedding. I worked my way through the state university and into mining engineering. For years my work has absorbed me, and I've known nothing of what went on at Plainville, but last week in a railroad restaurant out West I happened to hear news of you. I overheard one woman tourist speaking to another as they sat at dinner. I begged Madge Ingram to make this trip with me," she said, "but she thought she must go to Plainville, and told her she'd as well have married that merchant after all, but she says there's a lot of difference between going for a vacation and a lifetime."

"That must have been Elsie Warren," exclaimed Madge, "and what a coincidence that you should have heard her say that just as you were starting to Plainville!"

"But I wasn't starting until I heard that! It was knowing you were free that brought me here! It is because I've loved you ever since we were children that I've tried to make myself worthy of you. It's because I love you now that I'm telling you all this in such a blundering way, and it's because I'll always love you that I'm daring to ask you to go away with me to the West. Madge, could you marry a man who once drove a delivery wagon, and who loves you so much that he is making a sorry mess of telling you?"

She smiled into his face. "You might have asked me that question any time in the past five years, Tom, and I shouldn't have had the courage to refuse," she said.

It's Surprising.

That So Many Hondo People Fail To Recognize Kidney Weakness.

Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges; headaches, dizzy spells?

Go to bed tired—get up tired? It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys.

It's surprising how few know what to do.

Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only.

Have convinced Hondo people of their merit.

Here's a Hondo case; Hondo testimony.

Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

Mrs. C. H. Sayers, Hondo, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a lot of good and I have no hesitation in recommending them to others who suffer as I did. They gave me great relief and I can safely say that they are the best kidney medicine that I have ever used."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sayers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HIS REVENGE.

"Yes, she quarreled with Tom and returned all his presents!"

"And he hers?"

"Every one of them. Why, he even went so far as to send her half a dozen boxes of face powder with a note explaining that since he first met her he must have taken that much home on his coat."

Keeping Up Appearances.

"How about some hair tonic?" suggested the barber.

"What for?" inquired Mr. Growcher. "So as to preserve your hair, of course."

"Let it fall out. I'm too old to be handsome, and my only hope of looking intellectual is to become bald-headed."

Not to Be Trusted.

Grandmother—Did you get a letter from your husband this morning?

Young Wife—No; I expected one, but the carrier tells me the mails have been very irregular this week.

Grandmother—This week fiddlesticks! They always have been that way; you can't trust one of 'em out of your sight.

A Sure Way.

The meeting of the suffragette club was on in deadly earnest.

"How can we keep man at a distance?" howled the woman in sawed-off skirt.

"By eating onions," replied the female in the plaid waist.

Worse Still.

"Is there anything more pathetic than the low-browed husband of a high-browed wife?"

"Oh, yes," answered the advocate of culture.

"I can't imagine what it is."

"A husband and wife who are both low browed."

You Never Can Tell.

"Can't say, but judging by the hours Josiah keeps, I shall say he was naturally content to be a milkman."

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping its a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in White's Cream Vermifuge. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

It's funny that the bar associations haven't attracted suspicion in the dry states.

If you sit in a cool draft when heated and get a stiff neck or lame back, you will be looking for something that will ease the pain. Fix your mind on Ballard's Snow Liniment and don't be talked out of it, because it is the best pain relieving liniment you can get anywhere. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

It seems to be war at any price just now.

SALADS IN SUMMER

APPETIZING DISHES FOR THE
HOT WEATHER.

Apples, Celery, and Walnuts Mixed
Well Together Make One of the Best.—Watercress is Excellent
—With Oranges and Grapes.

Apple, Celery and Walnut Salad.— Cut into cubes two apples, pared, and one apple with the red skin left on, a few stalks of celery and a cupful of walnut meats. Stir in a bowl with some salad dressing. Pile a spoonful of this on a lettuce leaf, with a dot of the dressing on top. Use the rest of the lettuce head for lettuce sandwiches at supper time.

Watercress Salad.—Make an ordinary potato salad, chopped potatoes, with a little raw onion. Arrange in oval mound on platter. Divide into quarters with knives, leaving the knives in the salad. Cover two opposite corners with chopped beets. Of the remaining two corners cover one with sifted yolk of hard-boiled egg and the other with the white, chopped.
Marinate with French dressing and set away to chill. Just before serving remove knives and in the cross left put sprays of parsley. Also surround salad with parsley. This salad is very attractive.

Pecan and Potato Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of diced cooked potatoes with one cupful of broken pecan meats, sprinkle with salt, marinate with French dressing, turn into a salad bowl rubbed lightly with garlic, surround with watercress and garnish with halves of pecan nut meats.

Veal and Cabbage Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of cold cooked veal cut into dice with one cupful of finely chopped cabbage, moisten with salad dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Orange and Grape Salad.—Pare two seedless oranges, cutting deep enough to remove all the white, and cut the pulp into small pieces. Add an equal quantity of malaga grapes from which the seeds have been removed and one tablespoonful of canned pimento cut into tiny strips; moisten with French dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Turnip and Onion Salad.—Peel one large white and one yellow turnip, boil in salted water until tender, drain, cool and cut into dice. Peel and cut a medium-sized Bermuda onion in thin slices. Arrange the turnips and onions in alternate layers in the form of a pyramid, surround with slices of hard-boiled eggs and pickled beets cut in fancy shapes and serve with French or boiled dressing.

Fried Frogs' Legs.

Place two dozen frogs' legs in an earthen dish containing a marmalade composed of two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, the juice of a small lemon, one small onion sliced, a branch of parsley, two bay leaves, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika. Drain, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, dip in milk and roll in flour. Fry in smoking hot oil until colored a light brown.
Garnish with parsley and serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—Put the juice of a large lemon in a double boiler with one-half cupful of butter, a dash each of salt and pepper and beat until it becomes thick and hot, but do not allow it to boil. Stir in the beaten yolks of two eggs and remove from the fire.
Serve hot.

Baked Stuffed Onions.

Pare the onions and boil until tender, changing the water four times during the cooking. Scoop out the centers and chop them finely. Mix together equal parts of chopped ham and soft bread crumbs, add the chopped onions, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and season with pepper and a little salt. Fill the onions with the mixture, arrange them in a baking pan, baste with water and melted butter and bake until brown.

Hash With Eggs.

This is delicious: One cupful of boiled ham, chopped fine; one cupful of potato, mashed or chopped; one cupful of cracker or bread crumbs; season well, mix all together with water, put in a deep plate, smooth it over and then make little dents in the top large enough to hold an egg. Put it in the oven and heat it through, then remove and drop an egg in each of the places and return it to the oven till the eggs are cooked.

Beef Cutlets.

Put the beef through the chopper (as for hamburger steak), season with sage and pepper, moisten with cream,
then mold in cutlet form and boil.

Made My Life Worth Living

"I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me," writes Mrs. L. Danlap, of Oak Grove, Mich. "I have suffered with pains in
my back and under
my shoulder blade for
a number of years,
also with a poor ap-
petite and constipation.
I tried all of the remedies that I heard of,
and a number of doctors, but got no relief.
Finally a friend told
me to try Chamberlain's Tablets and I bought a bottle. I soon found my appetite improved, my stomach, and my bowels became more regular. Today I feel like
praising them to all who suffer as I did, for
they have cured me and made my life
worth living."

While Clarence was not seriously hurt he was painfully injured, and he received a scare that he will not soon forget.

Walter Roth, who is better known as "Dinky Dinkelspeil"—(for short)—an ex-German soldier, an ex-American soldier and at present a Soldier of Fortune, is here greeting his many friends. Dinky's friends are always glad to see him and hope he will remain with us. Dinky says he will stay providing he can "land" a good job. He had a job for nearly one whole day stacking milo maize but resigned on account of it producing so much perspiration! We believe Dinky wants a "position"—not a "job"!

Simon Sanchez, a Mexican farmer on the Fred Neuman farm north of town, had a close call from a serious accident Wednesday evening. Simon had brought in a bale of cotton but owing to a temporary breakdown was delayed in getting his cotton ginned and it was between eight and nine o'clock before he started for home. Just north of town his team became frightened at an automobile and started to run. In endeavoring to control the team one of the lines broke causing the team to swerve, throwing the wagon into some deep ruts causing it to capsize. Simon was caught under the wagon and it required help to extricate him from his perilous position. While pretty badly bruised no bones were fractured and he will soon be his normal self again. The wagon was considerably damaged.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Name Your Farm

OCCASIONALLY we get a letter from a farmer on stationery on which is printed his own name and the name of his farm. In some cases we find on the margin, briefly stated, what is being made a specialty of on that farm.

This looks like business, and demands attention at once, for it catches the eye.

The editor of your county paper always stands in need of a bushel of potatoes, a sack of water-ground meal, or some such farm product, and would be glad to swap you some nice printed envelopes and paper to match for these things.

It would pay you to do some trading with this man, who is doing a lot in his way to help you, so next time you are in town talk it over with him. Before giving the order talk it over with the wife and family, and decide on an appropriate, catchy name for your farm and then—live up to it.—President Charles S. Barrett in National Field.

Suffered From Lame Back, Weak Kidneys and Dizziness.

Dear Editor:

"Last winter I suffered terribly from lame back, weak kidneys and dizziness, and uric acid in the blood caused rheumatic pains. I sent to Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., for his new remedy, 'Anurie.' As soon as the box of tablets came by mail I commenced taking them, and reaped untold good from their use."

Note.—This "Anurie" is adapted especially for kidney complaints and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, scalding urine and urinary troubles. The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's "Invalids' Hotel," in Buffalo, N. Y., have thoroughly tested this prescription and found it 37 times more potent than lithia.

Will Sloan's Liniment Relieve Pain?

Try and see—one application will prove more than a column of claims. James S. Ferguson, Phila., Pa., writes: "I have had wonderful relief since I used Sloan's Liniment on my knees. To think after all these years of pain one application gave me relief. Many thanks for what your remedy has done for me." Don't keep on suffering, apply Sloan's Liniment where your pain is and notice how quick you get relief. Penetrates without rubbing. Buy it at any drug store. 25c.

A Good Thing for Children.

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort. Sold everywhere, and in Hondo by W. H. Windrow.

A lot of folks say they have no apologies to make when the fact is they are merely too stiff-necked to make them.

He Could Hardly Walk.

Deranged kidneys cause rheumatism, aches, pains, stiffness. Ambrose Gary, Sulphur, Okla., writes: "I was bothered with kidney troubles ten years and at times could hardly walk. I began taking Foley Kidney Pills. I got relief from the first but continued until I had taken three bottles. I feel like a new man." Sold everywhere, and in Hondo by W. H. Windrow.

Loneliness.

When you are gone!
I count the long days, one by one,
A rosary of loneliness, and breathe a prayer,
"God keep you safe, always—some-where."

And then I want you, when the day is done,
When you are gone.

When you are gone!
A thousand memories will come
To haunt me with their presence, dear,
Until I feel that, somehow, you are near.

Altho' your hands are still, your sweet lips dumb,
And you are gone.

When you are gone!
My lone heart aches for you, although
You cannot see my eyes get wet with tears,
That show the hunger of the empty years—

Because, sweetheart—because I love you so,
And you are gone.

When you are gone!
I will be orphaned for the want of you,
I will be widowed for your comrade breast,

A bird with broken wing, far from its nest,
A lonely hearthstone, and a cup of rue,
Because you're gone.

Melon Farmers Launch Institute.

Meloa, Tex., Aug. 11.—At a meeting of the citizens of this place last night a Farmers Institute was organized with the following officers: R. C. Maxwell, president; J. H. Evans, vice-president; J. T. Hendrickson, secretary, and J. M. Lindsey, entomologist.

The State Department of Agriculture was represented by its field agent, Fletcher Davis, who spoke on the plans and purposes of Farmers' Institutes and assisted in the organization.

Cotton is being ginned rapidly at Melon and is producing a fair yield, although boll weevils are doing some damage to late farms.—San Antonio Express.

When You Have a Cold

Give it attention, avoid exposure, be regular and careful of your diet, also commence taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It contains Pine-Tar, Antiseptic Oils and Balsams. Is slightly laxative. Dr. King's New Discovery eases your cough, soothes your throat and bronchial tubes, checks your cold, starts to clear your head. In a short time you know your cold is better. It's the standard family cough syrup in use over 60 years. Get a bottle at once. Keep it in the house as a cold insurance. Sold at your drug store.

The devil may be to pay, but if he'd give receipts many would find they have paid him in full several times.

Just the Thing for Diarrhoea.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere.

Many a girl who can't sing is afflicted with the idea that she can.

A Doctor's Remedy for Coughs.

As a cure for coughs and colds Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey combines these remedies in just the right proportion to do the most good for summer coughs or colds. A trial will prove the value of this splendid cough medicine. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey soothes the irritation, stops your cough, kills the cold germs and does you a world of good. A 25c. bottle will more than convince—it will stop your cough. At druggists.

The man who isn't married is quite likely to have a worse habit.

The Best Laxative.

To keep the bowels regular the best laxative is outdoor exercise. Drink a full glass of water half an hour before breakfast and eat an abundance of fruit and vegetables, also establish a regular habit and be sure your bowels move once a day. When a medicine is needed take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are pleasant to take and mild and gentle in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

Liver Trouble.

"I am bothered with liver trouble about twice a year," writes Joe Dingman, Webster City, Iowa. "I have pains in my side and back and an awful soreness in my stomach. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and tried them. By the time I had used a half bottle of them I was feeling fine and had no signs of pain." Obtainable everywhere.

GOOD GREEN MANURING CROP

Big Value of Sweet Clover is to Turn Under to Improve Soil—Foliage Has Bitter Taste.

(By C. E. HUTCHISON, Missouri College of Agriculture.)

The chief value of sweet clover for Missouri conditions is as a green manuring crop. Being a legume, it has the power of gathering nitrogen out of the air and storing it in the soil by means of the bacteria which live upon its roots. Since it makes such a heavy growth and does well on thin lands, it makes a good crop to turn under to improve the soil.

The value of sweet clover as a pasture or hay crop is much disputed. Some farmers regard it as practically worthless and consider it a weed, while others apparently have had good success with feeding it. Its foliage has a bitter taste due to the cumarin it contains and its stems have a tendency to become woody as they mature. If not allowed to become too rank before pasturing, or if cut for hay before the first bloom buds appear, these two objectionable features may be avoided to a considerable extent and very good feed obtained. It has been found, too, that stock will learn to eat it, and after being fed or pastured on it do not object to the bitter taste, as at first. Since it is a biennial, sweet clover may take the place of red clover in the rotation on those lands where the latter does not thrive well, but on the best lands it cannot compete with either red clover or alfalfa for hay.

The fact that the bacteria in the nodules on its roots are capable of inoculating alfalfa has led to the idea that it is a valuable crop to occupy the land immediately before seeding alfalfa. This may sometimes be done, but usually lands that have never grown sweet clover need inoculation for it as well as for alfalfa. It has been found necessary to inoculate the soil on the experiment station field at Columbia for sweet clover, and even with this precaution considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting a stand. It is evident, then, that it is frequently more difficult to obtain a good stand than one might expect from a general survey of the habits and characteristic of the plant.

MOST PROFITABLE OF CROPS

Sweet Potato of Great Value as Food for Human Beings and Animals; Has Industrial Value.

Whether it is to be used as a food for the table, as a feed crop for animals or a producer of starch, the sweet potato is probably one of the most profitable crops the South Carolina farmer can grow.

The best method of planting sweet potatoes is with cuttings from vines. If slip beds were not set out early enough this year for plants to be sufficiently large for good vine cuttings at this time, or if no slips were grown, it is advisable to buy cuttings from a neighbor. Planting slips is more expensive than vine cuttings. Besides, the fungi which produce rots are less likely to be carried on a vine cutting than on slips pulled directly from the old potatoes. Thus potatoes grown from vine cuttings will probably be freer from rot than those grown from slips.

A fertilizer suggested for sweet potatoes is 500 pounds kanit, 300 pounds

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and Doesn't Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out" if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

The Soda Fountain

An American Institution

Did you ever stop to realize that the soda fountain is an American institution? "French Bread" is an institution in France and the Ford pushing an English institution? And the funny part of it all is that though one seldom sees a soda fountain in Europe (and then only for the sake of attracting American tourists) that as soon as a foreigner gets to this country he too seems to learn to love the soda fountain.

But if you are old enough to look back a few years you will remember that only comparatively recently has the soda fountain been either so popular or so beautiful and hygienic.

You may remember what these old soda fountains looked like—what poor provision they made to supply even their scanty trade.

What has wrought this great change—what has made the soda fountain a national institution—a comfort and necessity in the daily lives of men and women—not only during the hot summer time but the whole year round.

The answer lies in that delicious beverage Coca-Cola. Soon after its introduction at the fountain people began to ask more and more for this distinctive drink. Along with its demand came the demand for more places that would serve it. Soda fountains sprang up everywhere, improving in beauty, neatness and attractive service. It is a fact that the soda fountain and all its allied industries have come to play in the economic life of the nation today is due largely to the stimulus given to it by Coca-Cola. In the same way has the call for bottled beverages grown. In 1939 Coca-Cola in bottles was first put on the market and the same quick recognition and appreciation was accorded to it in this form as was an evident in the fountain trade. The same principles of purity, goodness and dependability made another astounding record of growth possible. Bottling plants have been established all over the country to take care of this branch. Just think of 15-over 10,000,000 glasses and bottles of Coca-Cola are drunk every month. So—just as much as is the soda fountain a national institution so is Coca-Cola the National Beverage.

A Favorite of the Stage

Visits Favorites of the Screen

KATHERINE EMMET CALLS ON BABY HELEN BADGLEY AND LELAND BENHAM AT THAUHSENER-MUTUAL STUDIOS.

Katherine Emmet, known the country over for her splendid work in stage drama and comedy, never had been in a motion picture studio until a few days ago. Then she visited the Thauhsener-Mutual plant in New Rochelle to call on "Baby Helen" Badgley, most famous of screen children, and Leland Benham, a child actor of more than passing note.

When Miss Emmet entered the studio she found the children working under the direction of Carroll Fleming. He instantly availed himself of Miss Emmet's presence and impressed her for a scene with the kiddies. The scene was inspirational and, as it turned out, is one of the prettiest in the "homey" little drama.

Leland, in the play, was reading from a technical magazine to Helen, and they were having rather a hard time of it trying to understand what the words meant. "You sit down there, will you, Miss Emmet," said Fleming, "and act as interpreter for Leland? Then let me get you in your role of popular science explainer."

The picture shows how thoroughly Miss Emmet interested the kiddies. Helen Badgley's look of rapt attention remained fastened on Miss Emmet for the rest of the afternoon, and Leland, too, kept his eyes following the charming actress wherever she went in the studio.

A very interesting meeting of the County Farmers' Union was held at Yancey Aug. 12th.

The attendance was not quite as large as usual but every one present was there for business.

Delegates that were at the State Convention at Houston made favorable reports, praising the State and District meetings and the manner in which they were held.

One of several resolutions adopted by the County Union was: To thank Justice of the Peace Henry Kueck of Yancey for his gratefulness in lending us the use of his court room for a meeting place.

Some very important business was left over to be taken up at the next regular meeting which will take place with Black Creek Local on Saturday Sept. 9th.

BUTTON CLOVER A PROMISING NEW PLANT

But Clover—Taken at Chico, California.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Button clover is a new pasture plant which specialists in the United States department of agriculture are now advocating for use in the milder districts of the Southwest and along the Gulf, the South Atlantic and the Pacific coasts. This plant will succeed, it is said, wherever bur clover does well, and it is to be preferred to the latter in certain respects. Under favorable conditions it produces more seed and it has no spines on the pod or bur. For this reason it is particularly desirable for ranges where sheep are pastured. The great loss of wool occasioned by the spiny burs of spotted or toothed bur clover getting into the fleece is evidence, says Farmers' Bulletin 730, a new publication of the department on this subject, of the value of a species with a spineless pod.

Button clover is as yet but little known in most parts of the United States. In general appearance and manner of growth it resembles the toothed or California bur clover and the spotted or southern bur clover. The chief difference between it and these two species lies in the burs. In the case of button clover these are large and spineless, while the burs of the others are comparatively small and spiny. The button clover pods ripen in early summer and drop from the vines. In their ripened state they are then available at any time as food for stock.

For the best results with button clover, a growing period with no ex-much as 25 to 30 per cent burs. This means lower prices for the wool and extra freight charges. With button clover this trouble is of course eliminated.

Button clover also makes good hay. For this purpose it should be cut when most of the pods are still green but well developed, and just before the leaves begin to fall. If allowed to become more mature, many of the pods, as well as the leaves, are lost in handling. A supporting crop of oats or barley or some other grain should be sown with the button clover in order to facilitate cutting. There are, however, a number of other legume crops that are more desirable for hay production than button clover, so that its use for this purpose will no doubt be very limited. For green manuring the value of the new plant is about the same as toothed and spotted bur clover.

Button clover can be easily established in pastures, for nothing more is necessary than to scatter the seed in the most favorable places. The working of the soil prior to sowing will perhaps aid in establishing a stand, but except on good land this will hardly be profitable. Ordinarily the most profitable practice is to sow the seed broadcast and allow it to compete with other pasture plants. Where the winters are mild, the clover should be sown in the fall, and if there are summer rains the seeding should be done about the first of September. Early summer seeding in the cotton states is not advisable.

Small Amount of Wheat Was Sown With the Button Clover.

tremes of temperature is essential. The plant is not adapted to sections with a winter temperature below 18 degrees Fahrenheit, and it does not do well in extreme heat. In the United States it is believed that it will do best in a narrow strip extending along the entire length of the Pacific coast, in southwestern Arizona and southern Nevada, and along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts as far north as South Carolina. A fairly well-drained rich loamy soil is desirable, but the crop can be grown on almost any soil which contains sufficient moisture. Under rather arid conditions it makes a fair growth, but in the dry foothill pastures of California it has done no better than the common toothed bur clover.

The principal value of the new plant is for pasturing. In the green state it is readily eaten by live stock and, as has been said, the absence of spines in the burs makes it especially desirable on sheep ranges. This fact has been recognized for some time in Australia. In districts which produce an abundance of spiny bur clovers, it has been found that fleeces often contain as

In California, where dry weather prevails throughout the summer, the seed may be sown at any time before the fall rains begin. In California, also, and the other Pacific coast states where bur clover is common, inoculation is not necessary for the new crop. In the southern and Gulf coast states, however, inoculation is recommended except on land that has previously grown bur clover. Mixing soil from an old field of bur clover with button clover seed is one of the easiest methods of securing inoculation. Only enough soil to dust the seed is necessary. Another method is to scatter soil from an old bur clover field over the area to be seeded immediately before sowing. Sowing seed in the bur also seems to insure inoculation. If no suitable soil is available for the purpose, inoculation may be obtained by the use of artificial cultures.

In comparison with the spotted and toothed bur clover, button clover produces a large amount of seed. The harvesting of it is rather difficult, however, because the burs fall from the vines so easily.
